

BPIF

LABELS

BPIF LABELS ELEARNING PLATFORM

We are pleased to announce the launch of the BPIF Labels eLearning platform, which is now live and available to use.

WWW.BPIFLABELS.ORG.UK

WHY USE BPIF LABELS ELEARNING?

The BPIF Labels eLearning Platform is a place for those new to print to gain training on the various areas of labels printing, from printing processes and technology through to food safety and sustainability.

Each module offers first-class content from print partners with an extensive knowledge and understanding of their product and the industry, and we are continuously developing new content to keep your training current and relevant.

This complimentary educational tool enables new starters within the print industry, as well as anyone looking to expand their knowledge of print processes, to learn the principles of the label printing process through a range of modules, covering all aspects of the process, from substrates, tooling, print technologies through to sustainability. Each module completed will be rewarded with certification.

This service will allow businesses to provide extra training to their staff without having to source it elsewhere, and enable individuals to undergo extra learning in their own time if they choose to without having to ask their employer to invest. This training requires no supervision from senior staff, and can be completed on its own or to complement an apprenticeship.

If you are a BPIF Labels member sign up to use the platform here:
elearning.bpiflabels.org.uk

If you would like to become a member email
lauren.faulkner@bpif.org.uk

ALT were delighted to be part of the Newly Launched BPIF eLearning programme, this tool is structured to help new starters, apprentices, and existing employees gain a greater and valuable understanding of the whole process of Label production".

"We firmly believe People are our greatest resource and knowledge sharing is vital to our industries growth and survival in the future".

ADE MORTON
ANILOX LASER TECHNOLOGY (ALT)

SPONSORS

BPIF

LABELS

ABOUT US

The BPIF is a thriving, best-in-class trade association invigorating a modern, progressive print industry. It inspires those within the UK print, printed packaging and graphic communication industry to see opportunities for growth.

Being engaged with BPIF Labels can increase both your business and personal industry profile.

Join this Special Interest Group and get access to specialised information, training, events and contacts that will benefit the sector and your business.

 @BPIFLabels

 BPIF Labels

WWW.BPIFLABELS.ORG.UK