

Press Release

07.10.2020 – For immediate release

BPIF relaunch insurance scheme with a new and improved offering for the printing industry

BPIF Insurance Services has undergone an extensive review to see how it can better serve its members.

Working with Aston Lark, the BPIF have developed wider covers designed specifically for the printing industry, which are exclusive to BPIF members.

BPIF members can benefit from specific cover and discounts on premiums across the range of insurances they purchase. Clients will be able to benefit from collaboration with the offer of a true 'one-stop shop' in terms of the provision of insurance.

With the insurance market particularly challenging, most insurers are seeking to raise premiums. Therefore, it's more important than ever that all businesses properly review their insurance programmes in good time ahead of renewal.

BPIF members have access to a range of business insurance products designed specifically for the printing industry, which feature benefits including:

- A premium discount, exclusively for members of the BPIF
- A policy that covers the specific needs of the print industry, covering claims such as Printers Errors & Omissions, Breach of Copyright & Bookbinding
- A professional insurance broking service that advises you on the suitability of your insurance, not allowing printers to purchase their insurance (which is a complex purchase) without providing advice on the product and what it covers
- A team of expert in-house Claims Advisers (who understand the print industry) ready to help and assist you at the time you need it the most.

Stuart Rootham, Managing Director of Aston Lark, said:

"I hope that as many BPIF members as possible will support the new insurance scheme and give us the opportunity to demonstrate how we can improve their insurance protection and deliver competitive terms.

"I look forward to us helping as many members as possible over the coming year and renewing my strong relationship with the BPIF team, which continues to work tirelessly to support the industry."

Charles Jarrold, CEO of BPIF said:

"We look forward to this new relationship, to ensure members benefit from a really high quality, sector tailored, competitive insurance scheme, from a trusted broker."
